___ BIOGRAPHY

In 2009, the Dazy Nerds, a quartet of four guys from Bad Windsheim who describe their music as a mixture of 70s and alternative rock, were celebrated at the NN-Rockbühne (Nuremberg's rock stage). The band which was founded one year before the just mentioned event gets the rock sound of that decade which was formed by musical milestones like Led Zeppelin in an easy and non-nostalgic way into the new millennium and enriches it with the musical soul of bands such as Incubus, Muse, Radiohead and Rage Against The Machine.

The Dazy Nerds - consisting of lead singer Jim, guitarist Kenny, bassist Joe and drummer Dave - are passionate musicians and united by one thought: the perfectionist love for good music.

This is shown in their excessive and elaborated live shows which gave them the possibility to play gigs with 4lyn, The Intersphere and Levinhurst, the project of The Cure co-founder Lol Tolhurst.

Having successfully participated in a couple of band contests (e.g. 2nd place in the finals of the NN-Rockbühne in 2009, 1st place at the Local Vision Band Contest during the Bavarian finals and 2nd place at the Local Vision Band Contest during the German finals), they are making their way through whole Germany playing in well-known locations such as the Fritz Club in Berlin or Hirsch in Nuremberg. In 2010, they published their first album called "Neon Faces" proving that they are "one of the best local bands" according to the CD REVIEW. Beside nationwide gigs, the Dazy Nerds also got the chance to be on a TV-show called ON3 by the Bavarian Radio Broadcasting. In summer 2009, they went on a tour through France where they performed their songs plugged and unplugged. Playing on a stage, they usually use neon colours on their faces and on their upper parts of the body. In 2012, they published an EP which was recorded in the Seperate Soundstudio by J.B.O.-producer Christoph Beyerlein and in autumn, their first unplugged album called "Desire" will appear.

These four guys have a lot in mind - and especially the necessary power and creativity to successfully change their thoughts into good songs!
